

FAIRMONT MAN TO SPEAK AT DETROIT SAFETY CONGRESS

Director of Safety of Consolidation on Program at National Convention.

Joseph W. Reed, director of safety of the Consolidation Coal Co., Fairmont, is prominently featured with the program of the eighth annual safety congress of the National Safety Council which will be held in Detroit the week of August 28 to September 1, inclusive. Mr. Reed is slated for an address before the mining section of the council on the subject, "Mine Fire Prevention and Fight-"

The reduction of industrial accidents to an absolute minimum is the goal of the 3500 safety engineers and business executives, representing 6,000,000 and more American workmen, who will attend this annual national safety congress.

The activities of these men in the past year after year to exchange ideas and gain new "insights" in many instances have brought about decreases in industrial accidents in the past ten years as high as 75 per cent, says Arthur H. Young, president of the National Safety Council. "The second decade, inaugurated by the 1922 safety congress, holds forth a vision of a national industrial life free from accidents, human suffering and economic waste which have long marred the progress of American industry."

The National Safety Council believes that what has been accomplished in the elimination of industrial accidents can be duplicated in respect to public accidents. The council was created ten years ago as a clearing house of industrial accident prevention. It is now the firm conviction of the 3,500 industrial companies supporting it that there is a great public safety work to be done. Accordingly, the council has concentrated a portion of its efforts within the past few years on national public safety problems with special emphasis on adequate traffic control and education of motorists and pedestrians.

At this year's congress, special attention will be paid to the increasing number of public accidents which threaten the life of every community. Over 200 city, state and federal officials interested in reducing the annual national toll from public accidents will meet with the thousands of industrial safety delegates to discuss and map out special plans for carrying on more effective work in promoting more consideration for safety in the home, public school, street and shop. There is every indication that the 1922 safety congress of the National Safety Council with the 51 special meetings, 232 speakers, augmented by an exhibit of public and industrial safety appliances, will be the most successful held.

Besides the Consolidation Coal Co., the Domestic Coke Corporation and the Helwick Foundry Machine Co., of Fairmont are members of the National Safety Council.

$15,000,000 Bequest Makes Her Richest Girl in State of Texas

ANNE BURNETT, GRANDDAUGHTER OF TEXAS' RICHEST MAN, AND TOM BURNETT, HIS SON.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 3.—Society dowagers of Texas are busily building romances for Miss Anne Burnett. For she has suddenly become the most eligible young woman in the Southwest.

These are some of the things Miss Burnett owns:

Three great stock ranches whose area is more than half as large as all Rhode Island.

Two skyscrapers in Fort Worth. A home in Fort Worth that cost $100,000.

Liberty bonds valued at $200,000.

Stocks and bonds that bring her entire holdings to $15,000,000.

It is all hers because her grandfather, Capt. S. B. Burnett, regarded as the wealthiest man in Texas, died recently and left her the bulk of the estate. And he cut off his only surviving son, Tom L. Burnett, with $25,000 a year. A provision of the will was that Tom, himself a wealthy rancher, will get nothing if he tries to break the will. Administrators say there will be no contest.

Tom was recently divorced from his wife, formerly Lucille Mulhall, who with her father took part in rodeo shows.

Captain Burnett was a Texas cowboy who fought Indians and hunted buffalo. When he died at 74 he was a banker, rancher and capitalist. He started on borrowed money and built up his holdings until he owned three ranches covering 500,000 acres, stocked with high-bred cattle. Some of the biggest Texas oil wells were drilled on his property.

A Quiet Election

Little interest was taken here in the recent primary election. Less than 40 per cent of the registered vote being cast. During the recent campaign the Democrats claimed that the Republicans were unfriendly to the women voters and cited the election officers as an example. The results show that Mrs. Brown and Miss Wilson voted badly at this precinct while Mr. Grose and Mrs. Mason lead the ticket on the Republican side.

Accident Victim

Thomas Satterfield, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Satterfield, was the victim of an accident Wednesday afternoon at the bathing beach here. He was riding the "cannon ball" when the rope caught on the frame work where the cannon ball starts and threw the boy to the ground below, a distance of several feet. The ankle bone of the right foot was broken and the joint dislocated. On account of so many acci-

BEE CENSUS IN GOSHEN STARTED

Perfumed Girls Warned Not to Attempt to Count Bees in City's Poll.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Ever since a bee census was ordered in Goshen, N. Y., metropolis of the buzzing honey makers, tender hearted persons have been shuddering at the thought of the danger assessors might undergo in plucking each bee from its work room or den and counting it. But they might as well stop worrying, for W. E. Thorndyke, who knows bees from stem to drenched stern, said today that all the census takers have to do is count the hives.

"Even if they did have to number each bee, it wouldn't be so bad," he said. "Some men could count them one by one and never have to use a mask. Of course, a lot would depend on whether the bees were aristocratic bluebloods, or hybrids. The hybrids are usually the fiercer ones. Still, when it comes to getting intimate with bees, discretion is the better part of valor."

Girls with perfume and men who use hair oil, smelly pomades or scented talcum better get out of the way whenever they see a bee coming. Mr. Thorndyke says. He has a theory that the little honey-makers just naturally dislike certain odors. When a bee likes an odor it noses right in to gather raw material for its manufacturing plant, but it turns its back on disagreeable smells. And when a bee turns its back, some body is liable to experience discomfort.

Bees have domestic troubles, too, and these often put them in a bad humor. It is to ascertain how many of the baby bees at Goshen are suffering from "foul brood," and causing worry to their queen and their papa bees that the census was ordered.

Foul brood is something like summer complaint among human infants, but more devastating. It comes for impure food given during the period of incubation.

The adult bees are not bothered by the disease, as they thrive whether the larva contains good food or bad. But when the queen bee gets sick, then the physical strain of weakness ultimately affects the whole hive.

TEN KENTUCKIANS SEEK RE-ELECTION

One Republican Not Asking for Renomination in Primary Tomorrow.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 4.—(By The Associated Press.)—Ten Kentucky congressmen, eight of them Democrats and two Republicans, will go before the voters in tomorrow's primaries asking for re-election. Charles F. Ogden of Anchorage, Republican, will not ask for his seat again from the voters of the fifth district, and Maurice H. Thatcher of Louisville has no opposition at the primaries. This district normally is Republican.

Political observers believe the political complexion of Kentucky's delegation in the next Congress will be about the same as it has been for two years. R. Y. Thomas, Democrat in the third district is unopposed tomorrow, but probably will have a stiff fight in November. Three Republicans are seeking re-nomination in this district and in the past it has been a political battleground as the voters are about evenly divided as to political affiliation.

Political battles are not on the stage this year as many of the candidates have no opposition in the primaries and there are no Republican candidates in the sixth and seventh districts.

The eight Democratic incumbents have opposition for renomination in only the seventh and ninth districts, while John M. Robinson, the Republican incumbent from the eleventh district, is unopposed for renomination.

John W. Langley of Pikeville, the Republican incumbent from the tenth district, has one opponent, Fess Whitaker, widely known as the "jailed jailer" of Letcher County, who while jailer of Letcher County, served a sentence in his own jail after conviction on charges of turning out prisoners charged with a felony and of bootlegging and assault.

While still in jail Mr. Whitaker announced as a candidate to fill out the unexpired term of Sam Collins, county judge, who resigned to become state prohibition director. He was elected and while serving in that office he announced for Congress.

Following is the list of candidates for nomination in tomorrow's primary:

First district—Alben W. Barkley, Paducah, Democrat (incumbent); unopposed; F. M. McCain, Mayfield, Republican, unopposed.

Second district—David H. Kinchelos, Madisonville, Democrat, (incumbent); unopposed; George W. Jolly, Owensboro, Republican, unopposed.

Third district—R. Y. Thomas, Jr., Central City, Democrat, (incumbent); unopposed; Marmaduke B. Bowden, Russellville, W. O. Moats, Morgantown, and R. M. Amos, Olmstead, Republicans.

Fourth district—Ben Johnson,

Barstow, Democrat (incumbent); unopposed; R. H. McMulloh, Letcher, Republican, unopposed.

Fifth district—Kendrick R. Lewis, Valley Station, Democrat, unopposed; Maurice H. Thatcher, Louisville, Republican, unopposed.

Sixth district—Arthur B. Rouse, Covington, Democrat (incumbent); unopposed. No Republican candidates.

Seventh district—R. E. Lee Murphy, Lexington, and J. Campbell Centrell, Georgetown, (incumbent); Democrats. No Republican candidates.

Eighth district—Ralph Gilbert, Shelbyville, Democrat (incumbent); unopposed; D. H. Kincaid, Danville and Ed. Hubbard, Lancaster, Republicans.

Ninth district—W. J. Fields, Olive Hill, (incumbent); William T. Cole, Greenup; R. G. Buckler, Prater, and H. C. Duffy, Cynthia, Democrats; J. H. Stricklin, Insko, Trumbo Snedegar, Wyoming, and George Osborn, Russell, Republicans.

Tenth district—K. L. Vanev, Canada, and F. Tom Hatcher, Pikeville, Democrats; John W. Langley (incumbent); Pikeville and Fess Whitaker, Blackey, Republicans.

Eleventh district—Clarence J. Sipple, London, Democrat; unopposed; John M. Robinson, Barbourville, Republican (incumbent).
